GLAMORGAN POLICEMAN HONOURED:

Cecil Watkins, the Chief Constable of Glamorgan, attends a ceremony in his own honour at Bridgend. Major Traherne, Her Majesty's Lieutenant of Glamorgan, who now inspects police units on parade, is to present Mr. Watkins with the King's Police and Fire Service Medal for his distinguished service to the constabulary.

Mr. Watkins listens as the official notification of his award is read. 35 years ago Mr. Watkins joined the force, and since then he has won an unsurpassed reputation for his efficiency, and for his keen interest in the welfare of his men. Now he receives the King's Police Medal from the Lieutenant of the county in which he was born 52 years ago.

Major Traherne takes the salute as the parade marches past in tribute to their Chief Constable.

Mr. Watkins has achieved his highest honour after a lifetime in which he has always put his duty first.
