FLASHES.

Through the streets of Trieste are drawn the bodies of the six rioters who were killed during the recent disturbances in the city. Following the Anglo-American decision to withdraw from Zone A of Trieste, thousands of fanatical Italians rioted in an attempt to force the British to leave the city immediately. Triestine police were impelled to open fire on the mob. The violent riots which have had such a tragic outcome, have done nothing but harm to the Italian cause.

In Indo-china, French and Viet Nam forces moving south, fall into a Viet Minh trap. As tanks lay a defensive barrage, 'planes drop napalm bombs on the enemy only fifty yards away from the ambushed frenchmen.

Finally, intense hammering from ground-and-air compels the enemy to withdraw leaving important stocks of arms and 190 dead.

Lee Kyung Soo, a four year old Korean orphan, arrives at Alameda California, with Chief Busun's Mate Vincent Paladino, his father by adoption.

The Chief, a thirty five year old bachelor, found Lee a year ago. Since then it's been one long battle with red tape. But now a war tragedy gets a happy ending.
