

CARDIFF Vs SHEFFIELD WEDNESDAY.

Taking the field at Sheffield is Trevor Ford, number nine, who's hit the headlines as the most expensive man in soccer. Transferred from Sunderland to Cardiff City at a fee of £30,000, Trevor makes his debut with the Welsh team against Sheffield Wednesday. Rightaway, he's here, there and everywhere.

A free kick with the right foot, and another shot with the left is typical of Ford, whose fiery, attacking type of football has made him one of the most brilliant centre forwards in the game. But he doesn't score in this match, and Cardiff City go down by two goals to one. So now its back to the dressing-room to talk over the jinx that still seems to be on the City - they haven't won at Sheffield for sixteen years. "Glad to be home", is how Ford, a Welshman refers to his new transfer.

Ken Chisholm is another forceful Cardiff forward. A native is Ron Stitfall, their right-back. Trevor Ford, whose three transfers in recent years total nearly £70,000 has them to say about his new team:
