

BIG FOUR - 1st ROUND.

Mr. Molotov, Russia's Foreign Minister, enters the building in Berlin where the four-power conferences are taking place. With motor and motor-cycle escort comes America's John Foster Dulles.

Mr. Anthony Eden, Britain's Foreign Secretary, faces a battery of cameras as he arrives for the meeting, the first with Russia since 1949. Now M. Bidault, the French Foreign Minister, within the building, formerly used by the Nazis as a high court, the delegates meet. In the early stages of the conference (we now know), the Western powers refused Russia's demand that Red China should join in. This difference of opinion has become a serious barrier to friendly discussions between East and West.
