Over a minor clash between the pilgrims and the sadhus about 500 men women and children were trampled to death and over a thousand seriously injured. The scene of this ghastly tragedy occurred when the holy men were marching into a procession for taking the holy dip. It was at a narrow bund which was rendered slippery on account of the heavy rains and thousands of men and women collected there to have a view of the holy men. When marching into a procession the holy men detest the worldly people coming into their way. These were the causes in spite of the pucca arrangements made by the authorities which lead to this human tragedy.
