FOOTBALL.
BOLTON WANDERERS V. PORTSMOUTH.

Rival captains toss-up at Fratten Park when Bolton Wanderers and Portsmouth meet again for their fifth round battle that, last time, ended in a goal-less draw. This time, say the Portsmouth supporters, Pompey are going to win - or they'll know the reason why. The home team, in dark shirts, kick off and straightaway go into an attack!

Into the centre, but Barrass heads it away out of immediate danger for a corner. Pompey's right-winger Harris takes it.

Good, cool football swings play the other way, and Bolton's forward line play the sort of stuff that should have got them a goal or two last time. Left winger Ray Parry puts the ball into the middle but even Mansell's header doesn't stop the Bolton drive.

In the fourth minute, goalie Platt parries one, but Meir bangs it home! A surprise goal that shook Pompey to the core.

Pompey takes up the attack. Right back Wilson comes up to help penetrate the Bolton defence. Out of Dale, Portsmouth £20,000 inside left.

Pompey seem out of luck until Winger Harris throws in. Phillips to Dickinson - Watch this move carefully.

Back to Phillips, who neatly lobs it over as Gordon races in to head - and that's the qualiser! Portsmouth and Bolton, one all.

Unruffled, Bolton put in some nice approach work.

Ray Parry has it.

Parry's centre brings Lofthouse into the picture, and his left-footed shot sends Platt down to save. Bolton keep up the pressure, a header by Billy Meir, and there's another one! Bolton two, Portsmouth one.

Bolton keep plugging away down at the Portsmouth end, but Wilson takes over and starts things moving his way.

Henderson to Jack Froggart who drives across an empty goal - that really bad luck. It's a sad blow for Pompey as they need a goal badly. But its still 2-1 at half-time. Then, to make matters worse, play resumes with Henderson coming up too late to net a fairly easy one.

Dickinson throws in for Portsmouth. Maybe this'll lead to something. But no, Holden, helping in defence, clears away. Goalie Platt is soon hard at work again - the Bolton boys just won't leave him alone.

Len Phillips has it for Pompey.

Gordon slams in a hard one, but Hansen is there.

Bolton try for another. In a skirmish, Lofthouse goes down. Play doesn't stop, and nor does Duggie Reid, who's away leading a Pompey raid. Moving quickly upfield Jack Froggart just misses with a header. Goalie Hansen was nearly beaten that time.

Play swings from end to end, but the scoreboard stays idle. Now Portsmouth skipper Dickinson takes over -

Froggart tires a last desperate raid on Bolton's goal, but his centre's out of reach, of his fellow-forwards. And that's that. No score in the second half, so Bolton, beating Portsmouth by two goals to one, go onto meet Sheffield Wednesday in round six.
