WHO ELSE COVERED Paramount, Universal

~~President Eisenhower received the famous portrait of himself showing him in his five star General's uniform as Commander of Allied Forces in World War II. Portrait was painted by Sir Oswald Birley, who however died before he could complete the replica of the original which was to be presented to Ike. Another artist completed the work and the original painting (on the right) and the replica (on the left) are both shown in Eisenhower's office as the presentation was made.~~

~~8 Reels roll I - Various long and closer shots as Alexander presents the painting. Close-ups of painting are of the original.~~

~~Reels roll II - Type 3 film - Show close shot of both paintings and close-ups of the original painting.~~
