EUROPEAN ROYAL LUXURY CRUISE

It's the most fabulous blueblood holiday cruise of the century. King Paul of Greece greets his guests - more than 90 members of Europe's throned and de-throned Royal Families. At Naples, they board the five hundred ton luxury liner Agamemnon, and now as a symbol of the occasion Queen Juliana of the Netherlands receives a bouquet.

The Dutch Princesses think it a wonderful treat and here's Prince Bernard of the Netherlands who flew down in his own Dakota. The Dutch royal family in fact, is one of the few still reigning.

The cruise is the result of a gift to Queen Frederika of Greece to promote tourism, and she and King Paul mapped out a voyage from Naples to Athens.

The eleven day cruise will cost $1000 per day. Ex-King Michael of Romania is prepared for the sun. Wish you were going? Ah well - where's my umbrella.
