PICKLES PILES THE PENNIES.

PATHE NEWS: 54/67

Released Monday 30.8.54.

Meet Miss Penny Pickles, a lady literally made of money. She's stuck together by beer incidentally. It's Wilfred and Mabel's idea of raising funds - and that makes her three feet high and worth over ten pounds. It's the latest pub game suggested by Wilfred - object: to raise money for the aid of spastic children, and licensees throughout the country are helping.

Customers of the Mason Arms, Devonshire Street, where this ceremony took place, watch Mabel, and encourage her to "have a go".

Penny Pickles is a copper coloured gal who symbolises a great and humanitarian idea - an idea that has already raised thousands of pounds.

So cap it, Mabel. Customers are building towers up to the sun - with copper? Eh, Wilfred will be pleased.
