"OPERATION FIRE POWER".

An American B.36 intercontinental bomber empties its huge bomb bay on an imaginary target near Eglin Air Force Base in Florida. This is part of an exercise to demonstrate the deadly striking-power of the United States air armory. Now an F84 Thunderjet makes a rocket-run.

An F84, again - this time with bombs.

Another rocket's away, and the F84 follows the waspen's trail towards the target.

F86 jets sweep in to rain a fiery deluge of napalm bombs.
