SULLIVAN BEATS HANSEN.

Britain's Johnny Sullivan meets Denmark's Martin Hansen at the Ice Stadium, Nottingham. Hansen (with the white stripe on his trunks) covers up as Sullivan comes boring in. The promoter, Reg King and Freddie Mills watch from the ringside as Sullivan hammers the Dane.

Hansen's down, but only for a count of two. Sullivan, the "Pride of Preston" as he's called, holds the British Empire Middleweight title. His opponent is Denmark's middleweight champ. He's got a lot more experience than the British boy.

Bruce Woodcock, now retired from the ring, sizes up the 21 year old Englishman who, last July, lost to Hansen on points. So far, in this ten-round contest, Sullivan is probably just a shade ahead - but only just. Near the end of the fight, Hansen forces Sullivan into a corner could be the turning point.

Tommy Farr's another ringsider. Now Sullivan hits back, getting in some powerful body blows.

A tricky decision to make, but it's Sullivan's victory. Hansen seems surprised at the verdict, and few in the crowd seem to approve either. But Johnny Sullivan takes one step nearer the European title
