"ARISTOCATS" ON SHOW:

The National Cat Club holds its 58th Championship Show at Westminster. From all parts of the country, cats have come to compete - he-cats, she-cats, fluffy cats, huffy cats, - haughty ones, naughty ones, cuter ones, neuter ones - all have their place in the exhibition. And even if, as at all beauty shows, there's a certain amount of back-biting, at least the fur doesn't fly - they're all far too aloof for such conduct.

Now for some of the prize-winners. Here's Danhurst Black Prince, big, dark, and very handsome.

Now a Red Self. His name: Shartri Brienus.

Finally, Mark of Allington, the 1954 Champion of Champions.
