N. A. T. O. CHIEFS AT DIESEL WORKS.

Naval attaches from ten NATO and Commonwealth countries visit a famous engineering works in Stockport. The visitors are there to inspect the production and testing of the world-famous diesel engines made by the company. A £5½ million Admiralty order for 261 engines is being completed at present. These engines will be used in coastal minesweepers. As a result of the attaches' visit, Commonwealth and foreign navies are expected to "Buy British" for their warships and dockyards.
