

CAMPERS' GIFT TO SPORTSMEN.

At London's Royal Albert Hall, Freddie Mills gives a sporting flavour to the annual Butlin's Festival of Reunion. Hundreds of campers try their hand at spotting the celebrities - here's an easy one, Tommy Lawton.

The puff-puff runner, Gordon Pirie, makes his bow. Hot on Gordon's heels comes the captain of England's women's athletic team, Mrs. Pickering - better known as Jean Desferges. Yorkshire cricket idol Freddie Truman gets a great welcome. To climax the show, a cheque is presented by Butlin campers, to the National Playing Fields Association. Pat Smythe, here with Chris Chataway, receives the cheque from Billy Butlin on the Association's behalf. More than six thousand pounds is the total, and the controller of Ayr Camp, which donated the most, receives from Chris Chataway, the Butlin Challenge Trophy.
