

DUKE'S "MAGIC" LUNCH DATE.

At the Savoy Hotel, London, the Variety Club of Great Britain holds a luncheon at which the principal guest is the Duke of Edinburgh. The Club, which has given £100,000 to various charities in the past five years, has more than 400 members drawn from all branches of show business. Now for the luncheon's guest star, the Mad Magician -

Tommy Cooper moves round in front of the Duke for the big trick of his act - to make the white beaker disappear from the tray. Who better as a Sorcerer's apprentice, than the Duke himself?
