SEA CADETS SCRAP FOR TITLES:

The Sea Cadets Corps held their National Boxing Championships at the Royal Albert Hall, London. Ordinary Seaman Evans and Able-Bodied Seaman White (the taller of the two) mix it with a vengeance in the "sixteen-to-seventeen" year old class.

Evans, who is the final winner, throws a right and sends White down on his stern. Obviously enjoying himself is Prince Philip, an Admiral of the Sea Cadets Corps. Now an over-seventeen scrap with Able-Bodied Seaman Hills (the taller lad) giving Able-Bodied Seaman Jellis something to think about.

A left from Hills and Jellis is down for a count for two. Hills, despite some good work by his rival, finally wins the bout. Now the prize-giving and the Duke of Edinburgh presents Ordinary Seaman Evans with a "Daily Telegraph" cup as the best boxer in his class - a handsome trophy for a plucky little Tar of tomorrow.
