

5-003201

55/24.

SPAIN - BRITONS' CROSS-COUNTRY.

San Sebastian, one of Spain's most popular holiday resorts, is the setting for the International Cross Country Championship. Frank Sande leads England's team in the parade. Eight countries are competing in the fourteen kilometre run. Gordon Pirie, the obvious favourite, is absent owing to flu, so England's hopes are pinned mainly on Sande, Ken Norris and Mike Maynard.

Around the race track, and out towards the country leads the field. Ranger, number 8, leads for England. France's Allal is second, and Sande third. Already the field is beginning to thin out, but happily all the Englishmen are well to the fore. Conditions aren't too good, but nonetheless the pace is fast. In the lead now is Frank Sande,. Still in second place is Allal. A blow for England is that Ranger, now in third place, has to drop out owing to sickness.

Sande's on his own now, increasing his lead with every stride. Norris and team-mate Foord duck low as they follow close on Sande's heels. Their rivals do likewise, but it's going to be an English victory. 220 yards ahead of them all is Sande, striding towards the finish to a terrific reception from the 40,000 crowd. And to complete England's triumph Foord takes second place and Norris, third.

Once again, our young athletes win one of the world's greatest championships for England.

Released Thursday 24th March, 1955. 1030-02501

31 San Sebastian, one of Spain's most popular holiday resorts, is the setting for the International Cross Country Championship. Frank Sando leads England's team in the parade. Eight countries are competing in the fourteen kilometre run. Gordon Pirie, the obvious favourite, is absent owing to flu, so England's hopes are pinned mainly on Sando, Ken Norris and Mike Hayward.

UP

70 Around the race track and out towards the country heads the field. Ranger, number 8, leads for England. France's Allal is second, and Sando third. Already the field is beginning to thin out, but happily all the Englishmen are well to the fore. Conditions aren't too good, but nonetheless the pace is fast. In the lead now is Frank Sando. Still in second place is Allal. A blow for England is that Ranger, now in third place, has to drop out owing to sickness.

UP

116 Sando's on his own now, increasing his lead with every stride. Norris and team-mate Ford duck low as they follow hard on Sando's heels. Their rivals do likewise, but it's going to be an English victory. 220 yards ahead of them all is Sando, striding towards the finish to a terrific reception from THE THE 40,000 crowd. And to complete England's triumph Ford takes second place and Norris third.

UP

152 Once again, our young athletes win one of the world's greatest championships for England.