

DUKE STARTS CHARITY
RACE.

Olympic runners Roger Bannister, Chris Chataway and Chris Brasher are among athletes at Buckingham Palace waiting for the Duke of Edinburgh to start a special relay race in aid of the Historic Churches Preservation Trust.

The race is part of Save our Churches week, and from Buckingham Palace Bannister, Chataway and Brasher will start the relay, carrying cheques presented by the Duke.

About 2,000 ancient parish churches are in need of repair - calling for about four million pounds. The Duke tells the runners not to 'run off' with the cheques and the relay begins.

A flying start for a really worthwhile fund-raising campaign!
