NOTTINGHAM LACEMAKERS MEET
THE QUEEN.

Nottingham is the home of lace-making, and the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, visiting Nottingham for the Royal Show, take the opportunity of meeting the lacemakers at their work.

Greatly interested, the royal couple have many questions for these highly-skilled workers.

Like all branches of the textile industry, Nottingham lacemaking is highly mechanised nowadays. But to produce such beautiful material, some jobs must still be done by hand. Nottingham can be proud of its lacemakers' skill.
