

OPEN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.

AUSTRALIA ONLY.

The finest golfers in the world gather at St. Andrews, Scotland, for the Open Golf Championship..stars like Daly of Belfast, Coria of the Argentine...

And Australia's own Peter Thomson, the holder. Can he win for the second year running? Scotland's E.C. Brown is one of his most dangerous competitors, and although Peter Thomson is popular, the Scottish crowd would naturally like to see Brown win.

Another danger is Yorkshireman Frank Joule, but he seems to be in trouble.

And 25-year old Peter Thomson sinks the winning putt. Steady nerves and a refusal to be flustered have brought him victory.

So Peter becomes the sixth man this century to retain the cup for a second year. Here's to 1956 and the hat trick!
