

SUBMARINE

Weist-Fitzgerald

X The newest method of getting away from it all is demonstrated at Catalina Island, Calif., ~~Los Angeles~~, where a couple of Sunday submariners are trying out a gasoline powered deluxe model for two. Note the sporty open top -- furnishing complete ventilation above and below the surface.

X Unlike the Sunday drivers, the Sunday submariners have no trouble with traffic. They go under it. A snorkel device keeps the engine running. Should they want to take home a snack, they park and pick whatever happens to be going by. Getting a drink is no problem either.

X Sportsmen and scientists may use the Italian-made craft -- ~~that~~ until the water gets too crowded with Sunday submariners.
