

b-105201

Summary 1327

RUBBER FACTORY FIRE

By night-time burst out the most tremendous fire in a rubber factory of Turin, where hundreds of tons of extremely inflammable material were stored.

All antifire teams from Turin and surroundings were actively engaged in an attempt to save as much as possible ... but it took many hours to tame the huge fire. Awful columns of smoke darkened the sky till late in the morning. Worth over half milliard lire the damage estimate.

£284,000