CYPRIOIS SURRENDER GUNS.

The people of Cyprus queue up at their local police stations to hand in their shotguns and sporting rifles. Too many of these weapons have been falling into terrorist hands, so the Government orders their surrender till the emergency is over.

A receipt is given for each weapon handed in. So eager are the terrorists to get hold to these guns that in some places their owners are ambushed on the way to the police station and the guns stolen. Until Cyprus returns to normal, these lethal weapons are safer under lock and key.
