

2-28P201

56/14

WHITE ROME.

It's many years since Rome saw snow as heavy as this, but Europe's white winter doesn't stop at the Alps. Some Romans aren't used to it yet - but nothing ever ruffles an Italian policeman - not even this strange import from the North.

How on earth can you drive in this stuff if you never get a chance to practice? Of course, you could stay at home - but Romans don't give up easily.

Mama Mia! It's not fit for a dog!

Where do they think this is - Cortina?