

CHARLTON v. ARSENAL.

Charlton (in black shorts) are at home to Arsenal - and the Gunners are going to have to work hard to restore their reputation after the fright little Bedford gave them. But right from the start the 70,000 crowd can see that this is a new Arsenal, full of fight.

Inside left Jimmy Bloomfield loses the ball, but the Gunners soon have it back.

Tapscott flicks across to Vic Groves, who shoots - and makes it!

Charlton nil, Arsenal one! It looks as though the visitors are back in form at last!

Charlton try to square things - but it's wide. Goalie Jack Kelsey takes the kick.

Soon after, there's a free kick for Arsenal. Charlton have to fight like tigers in their own goalmouth.

A lucky escape for the home boys. But Arsenal are soon back again. Bloomfield has it, and from 20 yards out he shoots - two up for the Gunners!

Second half, and a Charlton attack nearly beats Jack Kelsey - but Jack recovers and saves it.

Arsenal are on the move again. Danny Clayton passes - but the opportunity's missed.

Sam Martram takes the goal kick, and Charlton sweep forward. But Jack Kelsey is ready for them. And in spite of all their efforts, Charlton can't bring off a single goal. So Arsenal have a well-earned place in the final eight.
