

TRIBUTE TO LEN HUTTON.

At a National Sporting Club dinner in honour of Len Hutton, Alan Bodser is one of the guests welcomed by N.S.C. committee members. Tommy Trinder greets his hosts with the respect they deserve.

Douglas Bader, the legless fighter ace, arrives.

Now the Club chairman, Charles Forte, welcomes the great man himself - Len Hutton, king of English cricket, who has retired from the field but can never retire from public affection.

Jim Laker, Bill Birch, Leslie Ames, G.O. Allen - all the great names are here; Denis Compton, R.W.V. Robbins. Hutton chats with Douglas Bader, Herbert Sutcliffe and stage star Jack Buchanan. With them, we wish him a happy retirement.
