

CHALBOHNE BASKETBALL

Just because a man's confined to a wheelchair, it doesn't mean he can't be a sportsman - and a pretty energetic sportsman at that. To prove it, here's an international basketball match between French and British teams in the Coubertin Stadium in Paris.

Taking long passes with an agility that would do credit to anyone, the British boys soon draw ahead of the home team.

A few minutes to go, and a tussle for the final point.

And the last goal makes it a British victory by 14 points to 8.
