

INDIAN MUSLIMS CELEBRATE "ID".

At the end of Ramadan, the month of fasting, Delhi's Moslem minority celebrate the festival of "Id". First, the ceremonial washing before prayers - which to the Moslem is a religious duty. Thousands of them come to the Jama Masjid - Delhi's great mosque which was built by the same man as the Taj Mahal.

Since the communal massacres of a decade ago, India has made great progress towards internal peace. Today, 200,000 Moslems live and worship without fear in and around the Hindu capital.
