HARRY TRUMAN HONOURED.

Harry S. Truman, the man who became President of the United States almost by accident, and confounded all the prophets by being re-elected, comes to Oxford to receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Law. Sir Kenneth Clark, Chairman of the Arts Council and also of the Independent Television Authority, is honoured at the same time.

Thus England's oldest university pays tribute to an American citizen who has always been a firm friend of this country.
