

GERMAN CHIMNEY,

Windows are taken out for safety, and pets are shut away, when the Bavarian town of Gunzenhausen gets rid of a factory chimney it doesn't want any more. There isn't much room, so the problem is to bring it down in exactly the right place.

The moral is - there's a time and place for everything - especially for dropping bricks!