

KING FEISAL WITH R.A.F.

King Feisal of Iraq in R.A.F. uniform with his uncle, The Crown Prince, visit the Air Force at Odiham, and inspect one of the giant Beverley transports, which can carry 20 tons of cargo or 94 men. The young King watches a demonstration of re-arming and servicing fighter planes, by the station's ground staff.

Now it's the turn of the pilots to show their paces. One by one, they take off with their Hunters, Javelins, and Vampires, while the King watches from the control tower. The big new Javelin all-weather fighter takes part in the formation flying.

At Lancaster House Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd greets the Thailand ambassador at a Government reception in honour of King Feisal. The Japanese ambassador is also among the guests and the enjoy of Burma.

The Duchesses of Kent and Gloucester are here with the Queen to receive the young sovereign, who was educated in Britain and has remained Britain's friend.
