

56/59.VERY ODD SALE.

At Gooday's Yard, Twyford, in Berkshire, a very odd sale is in progress - almost every means of transport anyone has thought of for the past couple of hundred years. You want a traction engine? Or perhaps a horse brake. All going cheap - Mr. Gooday has the lot. In fact, over 600 lots.

This roundabout went for £150 - but meanwhile, the rides are free.

£52. 10 for this one - Silverstone here we come!

It's hard to tell whether the buyers are farmers, engineers, film-studio property men, museum curators, or musicians - for there's something for all of them here. The Army ordered these sleighs in 1940 - now they're flogged for a couple of quid.

This lot fetches £70 - it will work in an Irish quarry. And this hansom cab is being used in the shooting of Marilyn Monroe's film "The Sleeping Prince". You can buy anything from a vintage car to an anchor - always useful in heavy traffic. You prefer a bike? Sold to the gentleman in the cap for eight pounds ten!
