

CYPRIOI GIRL DENOUNCES E.O.K.A.

Drosoulla Demetriadou comes to London and tells the Press why she, a Greek Cypriot girl, hates the E.O.K.A. terrorists, and why she denounced them on Cyprus Radio at the risk of her life.

A fortnight ago a murdered man lay in a Nicosia street - Special Constable Edward Benici, Drosoulla's 26-year-old fiancée. His sweetheart stood at the roadside, numbed by the tragedy, while bystanders tried to comfort her.

At that moment, she resolved to speak out against the nameless murderers who are terrorising her land. Safe in London with her family, she gives us her reasons:
