

CAMERA : VED PARKASH

STORY : II2 killed in Train Disaster near Hyderabad in India.

LOCATION: 70 Miles away from Hyderabad in South India.

STOCK : Plus X - 300 Feet.

LIGHT : DAY CLOUDY.

.....

One of the worst train disasters took place near Hyderabad in South India on the 2nd September morning when the Bangalore bound passenger train from Secunderabad crashed into a small rivulet near JADCHERLA Station about 70 miles from Hyderabad. More than II2 bodies had been recovered but there were many more which were still to be traced either from below the debris or from the water stream.

Though the cause of the accident has yet to be established but the official surmise is that the rivulet was suddenly swollen by the waters of another tank a couple of miles upstream which bursts its banks.

All the other casualties were from the first two bogies which were smashed to smithereens by their violent impact with the engine which sank into the river as the small 40 feet masonry bridge spanning the rivulet collapsed when the train was passing over. All members of the crew were saved.

.....

Roll No. 1, 2 and 3.

Long shot of the accident train.

Shot of the Engine hanging from one side of the bridge.

General shot of the train and the worst effected bogies.

Shot of the people of Hyderabad and the near village were gathered at the side of the accident.

Various shots of the destroyed bogies and the engine.

Shot of the some of the Engineers and High Officials of Railways examining the train accident.

Various shots of the tender part and crashed bogies in the Stream when the bridge gave way.

~~Street scene of Hyderabad City.~~

~~Shot of the famous CHARMINAR of Hyderabad City.~~