

HAIR-DO'S PLAIN AND FANCY.

At Seymour Hall, London, the Fellowship of Hair Artists hold their Festival of Hairdressing Technique - and according to the organisers, Paris has its eye on them. (Don't tell anyone, but so have we!) The experts say there are two conflicting trends in European hair styling today - the very short and the very long. Characteristically, Britain aims at producing a compromise.

Here's the evening version of the "Olympic" style - a hitherto secret line which is described as a style for Mrs. Everywoman, of all ages.

And here's Bernard Hillaert working on "Expressionism". The styles on show range from out outrageous to the extremely simple.

Madame Odette Rouis who comes from Belgium works on "Autumn Fantasy", using the hair of 22-year-old Janine Bartmouir as a mere starting point, for a flight of fancy.
