EGYPTIAN P.O.W.'s WAIT TO GO HOME.

Wounded Egyptian prisoners leave an Israeli military hospital by ambulance for Igdda Airport, where a plane is expected to repatriate them to Cairo. The repatriation was arranged by the International Red Cross, the 27 Egyptians admit their medical treatment was better than they could have expected in Egypt, for security reasons, the prisoners are blindfolded.

Dr. Louis Guillard, of the Red Cross, tells journalists that there's been some delay. The plane hasn't turned up, and the convoy must return to hospital. Says prisoners Ahmed: "It can't be Nasser's fault". Says the Red Cross: "It can't be ours". Next day! They were sent home in a foreign plane.
