

News of the Day
January 24, 1957, Vol. 28-#245

MILLIONS LOST IN CHICAGO FIRE!

A multi-million dollar blaze rages out of control on Chicago's South Side. Intense heat and strong winds hamper the efforts of firemen battling a grain elevator fire from extension ladders.

Twenty-five companies strive to keep the flames from spreading to nearby buildings. But any attempt to save the grain elevator is futile. The scorched walls come crashing down.

One of Chicago's worst fires, it causes a loss of five million dollars in grain alone.