

POMPEY K.O.'s HECHT.

Trinidad light-heavyweight Yolande Pompey meets European champion Gerhard Hecht in Berlin. Film star Hildegard Neef is among the ten thousand Berliners watching this non-title fight, on which depends Pompey's claim to another world crown attempt. By the start of the second round, both fighters are still fairly even.

Pompey slings a wild-right, and the German comes back with a flurry of blows.

Pompey attacking again, and he lands a stinging left hook to the ribs which drops hecht to his knees! Even Pompey's surprised at the German's sudden collapse - but the blow was a beauty and for the first time Gerhard Hecht is vanquished by a foreign light-heavyweight.

Hecht is out - and the ref helps him to his feet. So Yolande Pompey earns his right to another crack at Archie Moore's world title, which he failed to take from him last June. Soon, the boy from Trinidad hopes to be on top of the world!
