

FASHION IN FLIMSIES.

Nightwear and lingerie to suit every taste and every pocket is on display at a London fashion show. These tomboy pyjamas are definitely out - and shortie nighties like this, or knee-length "Baby Doll" styles like this, are expected to be very popular during the summer - that's if we get any!

But if anyone thinks great-grandmother was dowdy, 73-year-old Mrs. Lottie Spindler has other ideas - and she's here with her gaffering tongs to prove it. But after all, this is a modern show - so here's another "Baby Doll" outfit - the briefest of jackets, with bloused panties.

A nylon fabric slip, trimmed with very heavy embroidery - and panties to watch. Which all goes to prove nylon doesn't have to be transparent to be fashionable!