

MASS PRODUCTION:

Meet a Dutch actor who's fond of dogs - but who get more than he bargained for. His Dalmations present him with a family - and what a family! Mother simply doesn't know which way to turn. Don't bother to try counting them; it took our cameraman long enough - but the confirmed total is seventeen!

Feeding time is like the public bar on pay night.

The cat just gives up in disgust - he's seeing so many spots in front of his eyes he feels like calling the vet - if any vet would dare to show his face in here. Supplementary bottles are the only answer to the catering difficulty.

An interesting problem, this. If one Dalmation has seventeen supplies, how many bowls of meal are needed to keep them going? Take away the number you first thought of, and the answer's seventeen plum puddings!