

News of the Day
June 3, 1957, Vol. 28-#282

YOUNG BUCKEROOS
RIDE 'EM BOWBOY!

A rodeo at Salinas, California, features cowboys who really are boys. The participants are between seven and fourteen years of age.

There are some who maintain this is a bit young to learn how to throw the bull - or vice versa.

But to even things up, heifers are used - which means the young rider can't take the bull by the horns.

Lotta seat of the pants flying here.

You've got to hand it to these youngsters - they try to stick to it even when they've been given a bum steer.