HOLIDAY ROUND-UP.

It's the big day of the makes' year - the Donkey Derby at Wivelisfield. Like many great sporting events, it's a fashion parade as well, and all the best people are here. Not only the world of fashion, but the world of high finance, too - all waiting with bated breath for the starter's signal. It's much more exciting than the Epsom Derby, which is all over in a couple of minutes; this can go on for hours.

Still, some of the entries do realize that there's a race on, and work hard to give the punters a run for their money. Though some riders seem to think it's the Grand National, others keep their heads, and their seats, for a splendid finish.

Ride him, cowboy - if you can!

Talking of cowboys, here's a real one - at least, after 102 Western films which have made him loved all over the world, Hopalong Cassidy is a very real cowboy to these lads, as he was to their father's and even some of their grandfathers. Hoppy's on holiday in London, and he's meeting his young friends in the Festival Gardens. When he throws his loose change around, it takes more than a few commissioners to stop the rush!

These two-month-old axis deer are just a few of the babies growing up this summer at Dudley, one of the Midlands' favourite zoos. With all this fine weather about, the old-uns are almost as lively as the youngsters. These, by the way, are Barbary sheep.

The elephant is a youngster, too - only two and a half years old which may be old for a lama, but he's a baby as elephants go. Over to the penguin pool, where there are more new arrivals finding their way about.

Grub up!

Don't look now, but somebody's cheating.

But when the visitors are as young as the residents, it's turn and turn about!

Across the Atlantic to New York, for the Palm Beach "Round Robin" golf tournament. This famous event has been won four times by Sammy Sneed, and he's in fine form again today, though he's up against some tough international opposition.

The big crowd is treated to some fine displays of putting. Look at this, by Australia's Peter Thomson.

Right into the cup! But he's not the only one. Here's an effort by Ed Furgal, former open champion.
