THE FIRST DUTCH FLYING-MISSIONARIES GOT THEIR CERTIFICATES.
-----

For the first time in the history of Dutch aviation flying certificates were given to three father-missionaries.

Proudly they wear the "wing" on their habits.

For the past months the three fathers a few times a week went to the National Aviation School in Hilversum to learn all details of aviation.

Because these missionaries will fly in Netherlands New Guinea they were given an very tough training.

Often they flew above Holland, sometimes single, sometimes in formation.

In a Cessna passenger-freight plane these priests will in a few months fly above the inhospitable landscape of Netherlands New Guinea to fulfill their difficult task of flying-missionaries.
