HOT ICE!

At New Jersey, the world-famous Ice Capades try out this year's mixture of glamour and humour before starting on their winter tour of the States. Cathy Steele and Phil Romayne are in championship figure-skating form - and the audience figures they're good, too. A very hot dog on the cool, cool ice contains John Daughinis and Jack Colter.

To put yourself across in this sort of act, you have to get real close to your audience.

And now - meet the visiting firemen from somewhere-or-other. The chap on the business end of the line is Freddie Trenkler - he wants out, so he just walks to the nearest exit.

But he's soon back again - and makes quite a splash!
