

ITALIAN GRAND PRIX:

Last of the year's motor-racing classics is the Italian Grand Prix - at Monza - and this year it's more thrilling than ever, for although the world championship's assured to Fangio by a big margin, all eyes are on Stirling Moss in Vanwall No.18, This British combination captured the last two Grand Prix; can Moss bring off the hat trick?

Brooks, in another Vanwall, leads Fangio. Moss gets away after a brief pit stop. But he's lapped everybody and has plenty in hand. The Vanwall's behaving splendidly - it looks as though the years of Italian domination are over at last! Von Trips, Ferrari No.36, is in third place - but miles behind, and even the great Fangio's Maserati, lying second, can't make any impression on Stirling Moss. The young Englishman crosses the line to a hero's welcome!

But no one's prouder of Stirling Moss than his fiancée, Katie Molson. Good luck, of to both of them!
