MOTH SAILING REGATTA:

On the Welsh Harp, by London's North Circular Road, the British Moth Boat Association holds it's Silver Jubilee Regatta. The Welsh Harp was the birthplace of these popular little craft, which now form by far the largest single-handed class in the country. The Moos is also Britain's cheapest thoroughbred racing craft, and can easily be built by an amateur - facts which count for a lot now that sailing has become Everyman's hobby.

The race for the Brent Cup is under way - and it's also the final points race for the Moth Championship of Britain. A grand day for sailing - with a changeable breeze to make it really exciting.

And talking of breezes, here's another surprising quality of the British Moth - demonstrated involuntarily by several competitors. If the Moth capsize, you step on the keel and up she goes!

And here's the winner - No. 238, sailed by Mr. Ted Hicks of the Medley Club, Oxford. He's British Champion for 1957 - for the rest, cheer up, there's always 1958!
