International Appeal

In Berlin, the divided former German capital, the French Ex-President Vincent Auriol opened the General Convention of the International Veterans' League. In his speech M. Auriol turned against national hatred and fanatims. The most effecture means against need and despair, he said, was the sincere appeal to the hearts of man.

In the East Prussia Hall the German Federal President Heuss viewed works of war-invalids and watched several invalids at work using their artificial limbs with greatest dexterity.
