

57-92

PARADE AND DEMONSTRATION IN MOSCOW

The Soviet state is entering into its fifth decade.....

The entire country solemnly marks the 40th anniversary of the Great October Revolution. A military parade and civil demonstration takes place in Moscow on Red Square on November the 7th.

Marshal Rodion Malonovsky, thw USSR Defence Minister, reviews the parade.

Marshal Malinovsky on behalf and on the authority of the Soviet Government and the Central Committee of the Communist Party congratulates the people on the anniversary of the Great October Socialist Revolution.

Leaders of the Communist Party and the Soviet Government Leaders of the foreign delegations are at the tribune of the Mausoleum on Red Square.

The military parade has begun.

The outstanding successes in the development of heavy industry and science made it possible to equip the Soviet armed forces with all the modern military weapons and equipment.

New types of artillery armament based on the principle of reactive force were displayed at the parade.

Athletes of the Soviet capital open the civil deomonstration. Workers, office employees, scientists, students demonstrate their labour achievements, their ardent desire for peace and friendship among all nations.