

BRITISH DANCERS' TRIUMPH.

Star dancers of eight countries compete in an international contest in Turin - couple No.5, are Britain's representatives - those up-and-coming youngsters, Leonard Armstrong and Elaine Welsh. There they are on the right. Herr and Frau Sandner of Austria No. 1, are scoring well, and another couple high on the list are the Danish pair, Mr. and Mrs. Frederixsen.

The British pair again...

And their closest competitors, Breuer and Pragers of Germany. After the quickstep comes the tango - a strong point for the Austrians.

But it's the British couple. Leonard Armstrong and Elaine Welsh, who score highest marks for the four standard dances - waltz, slow foxtrot, quickstep and tango - and a very popular victory it is; an international triumph for a young pair who are making their way to the top - but fast!
