WEE MITES FLY
AT ANNAPOLIS!

Clear the decks for action. At the US Naval Academy the fighting sons of Navy men weigh in for the Small Fry Boxing championships. Started 39 years ago by coach Spike Wobb, who's at the bell today.

The first bout sees a couple of midget-class battle cruisers open the maneuvers, with broadsides.

Proud Papas cheer from the sidelines and the action is fast and furious in the second phase of the engagement. It's give and take with all guns firing. These deepsea sailors are loaded with fighting spirit.

Gunboat Bill gets final instructions from the bridge as he steps out to meet Submarine Pote; a pack of fast-firing man o' wars-men who sail fight in, full speed ahead. They rake the decks with flying leather.

Pop's learning about tactics as the two skippers cross each other's bows with haymakers. But in the grand tradition of the Navy, they never give up the ship.

S-T-R-I-K-E CALL!

Keglers on parade. The vanguard of the contestants of the American Bowling Championships file in at Syracuse, New York. And 36 balls cross the 60' divide to pin glory and pin-money.

More than 28,000 hopefuls will compete in the American Bowling Congress Tourney during the next 10 weeks. They'll arrive from 39 states, Hawaii, Canada and Saudi Arabia.

What they'll be shooting for is three hundred and fifty-five thousand dollars in prizes.

The idea of this fifty-fifth annual ABC tournament can be stated in a simple format - Strike it rich!
